

Professional Learning

Never stop growing.

The Bloom Professional Learning team consists of tech-savvy educators who understand the real challenges of teaching with classroom technology. They are passionate about bringing you powerful teaching tools and skills to improve the learning outcomes of your students.

"In systems where the average teacher can access more than 2,000 digital tools in a given moment, training on a tool's basic functionality is insufficient. Closing the design divide moves teachers beyond the formulaic use of digital tools and allows them to actively design learning experiences for all students within a complex ecosystem of resources."
